

Lasan Summer School 2012

I loved this year of summer school at La San. I'm sad, though, about the old school being torn down. I hope that we will still be able to keep old classes like art, singing, and movie time. I hope that the new school will be built soon so we can come back to La San as soon as possible. Nevertheless, we should enjoy our summer like any other regular summer.

I loved all classes. Sometimes I helped out some teachers during swimming. My favorite teacher and TA were Cecile and Michelle. I may have driven my teacher, Thay Hung, crazy but I guess he would cherish this summer like I would. My favorite class was art. Even though I was gone for a week and missed at least two art classes, I still love art.

Movie time is when they show a movie about Bible stories or virtues like patience. The little kids go into the hall and the older kids go into the chapel. The first movie is always about God and his wonders. After Movie time, it's lunch. After lunch is Art/Study. After that is computers, snack, and then swimming. I hope that I come back to La San soon to annoy Thay Hung!
